THE MOUNT

ANNUAL STUDENT PUBLICATION OF
MOUNT SAINT MARY'S COLLEGE

THE SEAL of Mount St. Mary's College, designed by Baker of London, contains a circular shield about which is the name of the college and the date of its founding, 1925. The circle has four divisions. At the bottom center an open book is inscribed with the college motto — Deus Illuminatio Mea — God My Light. At the upper left three angel wings signify the city of Los Angeles. The fleur de lis of France at the upper right represents the Sisters of St. Joseph of Carondelet who were established in France in 1650. At the upper center a lily surrounded by thorns stands for Mary, Mother of Sorrows. The seal beautifully symbolizes Mount St. Mary's College, founded by the Sisters of St. Joseph of Carondelet in the city of the angels.

To Mother Marie de Lourdes

We dedicate this book to you,
Who with gentle yet compelling spirit
Have imparted the depth of your own loyalty and love
To us who share this Mount.
We dedicate our work to you
Who have dedicated all your works to God for us.

The Seniors

My Dear Girls,

When you entered Mount St. Mary's College four years ago, you read on the first page of your college bulletin: The purpose of the foundation of Mount St. Mary's College is to offer to young women an opportunity of receiving a liberal education in an environment conducive to the development of sound Christian principles.

You did not, at that time, dwell too seriously on the real meaning of that paragraph. Freshmen never do. But during your precious years of study you have developed a background of knowledge and of values which have given you a sense of perspective, and you now look on Mount St. Mary's as a symbol of the highest and best in culture and sanctity which makes for that complete education spoken of by His Holiness, Pope Pius XI, in his Encyclical on Christian Education.

There is a great difference between knowing truths and living them, my dear Seniors, and so, I repeat in this written message what I have so often given you verbally. This philosophy of yours is not a decoration—it is a weapon. Use this weapon to combat the spiritual problems of the day. All your faculties, all your tendencies—even your passions—can be developed along the grooves of Christian perfection. The world's greatest need today is holiness. Choose your pattern among the saintly women of history—a Theresa, a Catherine of Siena, a Joan of Arc, or a Little Flower, if you please, but be a saint, each one of you. God love you, every one. This is the daily prayer of

Your devoted

Sister Marie de Lourdes

I JOIN with the Senior Students of Mount St. Mary's, in paying tribute to Mother Marie de Lourdes, C. S. J., and in acknowledging the splendid service she has rendered as President of the College.

As your third issue of THE MOUNT coincides with the Centennial of California, we rejoice in the heritage conveyed to our State through the efforts of the Franciscan Missionaries. They planted well in the soil of California the spirit of faith which has been constantly watered by the devotion of loyal and devoted followers of Junipero Serra.

May God in His mercy bless both the land of our State and its population.

ARCHBISHOP OF LOS ANGELES

California

By Margaret O'Connell Knoell '41

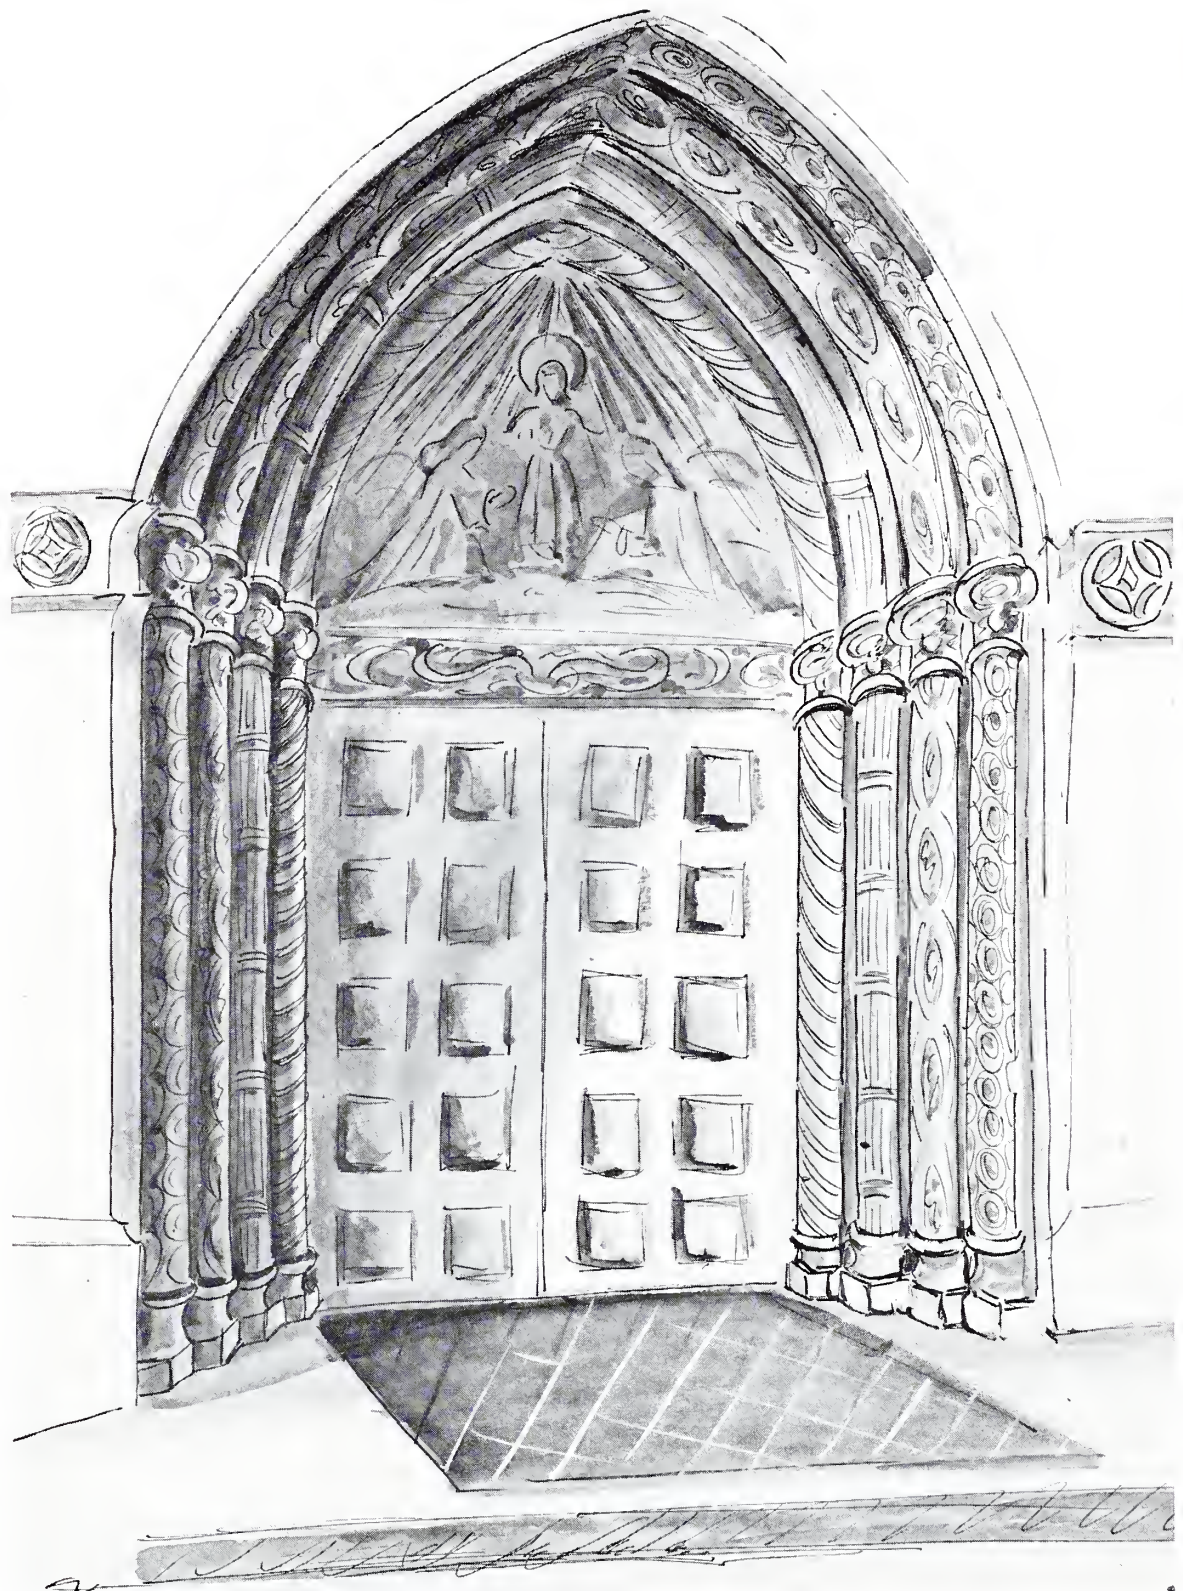

California,
you are a church,
adobed once, rebuilt with gold
on dusty graves,
fertile with the faith
of Spanish monks and Indian races —
graves catacombed beneath the cities —
each a kneeling place
upon your soil.

Your pillars are
the curving cedars from the
south,
Redwood pines, and pale-
scarfed firs.
Your carpet-moss is yearly
plushed.
Your windows are stained-glass
of thin clouds filtered through with sun.

The hill-sides are
your altars banked with
flowers—
Buck-brush Holly, Owl-faced Clover,
Azaleas, Asters from Sequoia, Lupine bluer than Brodiaea,
chaliced Poppies flattered
by the lighted tapers
of the Yucca.

The landscapes are
your panels, symbol-filled
and laid with pious folded Palms,
with olive boughs and wind-shy
corn
that tans beside the
gold-gowned orange,
fat-throated doves,
the locusts and wild honey.

Swing the incense, Wind,
from your flower-filled censer.
The sacrifice is ready!
Let high-priests come
with purpled wines
from grape-vine meshes,
with sun-flushed plums and
apricots,
brush-brown fowls and muff-
clad sheep,
cotton smoothed to altar laces.
Bleach wind-cleaned wheat
for breaded hosts.
We take of your Communion.

"California, you are a church..."

The senior class of Mount St. Mary's College has chosen the California Centennial as its theme for the 1949 issue of The Mount.

"California," a poem by Margaret O'Connell Knoell, '41, will carry the theme verbally while drawings by Katherine Williams, '49, will illustrate lines from the poem which localize the theme at the Mount.

To the Graduates of 1949

Your college days here at Mount St. Mary's will soon come to an end. For four years you have been preparing yourselves to take your places in a world that needs Christian guidance and Christian leadership. The Church should be able to count on you to lead in the formation of public opinion and to withstand the prevalent spirit of secularism.

You are to be the spiritual, the social, and the educational leaders in this confused and confusing world. You are to be its teachers, its religious, its mothers, and its professional and business workers. The future of Catholic education is in your hands and in the hands of your fellow Catholic collegians throughout the country. You must comprehend and support legislation that will insure the continuance of our system of schools. You must provide the teachers that are to staff these schools and you must provide the students who are to be educated.

Great are the responsibilities that are yours but glorious are your opportunities. What you stand for as Catholics, and what you should strive to accomplish, the world needs. You have the truth — the eternal truth — and this truth should light your way in search for all other truths.

We are confident that each one of you will accept the challenge that is presented to you. We shall be with you in spirit in your future efforts — in your successes and in your failures. We bid you a prayerful farewell. May our Lady whose children you are in a very special way guide and protect you and may her Son under whose leadership you go forth find you ever loyal to Him and to His Church.

SISTER ROSE de LIMA.
